

Great Valley Writing Project at CSU Stanislaus presents a professional development opportunity for teachers:

Everyday Editing To Teach Conventions

2009 Professional Study Groups for K-12 Teachers

Gain expertise and grow with your colleagues as you read, discuss, and share your classroom experiences.

Help your students master grammar, mechanics, usage, and syntax with simple strategies that build confidence, promote understanding, and motivate self-editing!

In this 15-hour course, teachers will read an important resource book and explore classroom-tested, research-based instructional strategies. As they test new ideas in their classrooms, they will share challenges and insights with colleagues. Together, they will discover better ways to address state standards and help all students become successful writers.

Registration fee: $50.00 + $25.00 materials fee. ($50 will be refunded to teachers from Manteca and Ripon schools who complete course requirements!)

One unit of extended education credit is available from CSU Stanislaus for $40.00.
