Housing Warriors

Residential students live in a vibrant and diverse community of peers bonded by their desire to enjoy a full university experience. Housing offers an environment which challenges students to think critically, engage their minds and explore the world around them. Members of this community enjoy the convenience of living on campus, as well as greater access to campus resources.

Supported by a wide range of academic resources available exclusively to housing residents, freshman residential students have a higher freshman to sophomore persistence rate than their non-residential peers.

Community members also take great pride in striving for academic excellence. In the Fall of 2015, 27% of the community achieved Deans List Recognition and over 50% of the community achieving a grade point average of 3.0 and beyond.

Living Learning Communities

HONORS

Freshman and upperclass communities through which members of the University Honors Program are able to live amongst peers, study and support each other and attend exclusive events and programs. Members of this community also have access to special rent reductions.

HOUSING SCHOLARS

Designed for the freshman student who is serious about his or her academics and while excited about all of college life, will likely make daily homework a priority, choose to go to bed earlier, study in their bedroom and prefer an overall more studious, quiet, living environment.

ELEVATE "College, rise to the occasion"

A community for first-year students integrated into English 1006 and 1007 that is designed to provide additional support as a student transitions into our University's academic and residential culture.

ATHLETES

Available exclusively to freshman and upperclass students on University athletic teams, this community includes placement assistance, social events and outings just for athletes, group study nights, and the peace of mind which comes from living amongst a peer group who understands the busy life of a student athlete.

SECOND YEAR EXPERIENCE

A community of students who are in their second year of college. Floor events will be themed around on and off-campus trips, organization and time management, major and career exploration and goal planning.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

A community for upperclass students who are familiar with the college process, although new to Stanislaus State. Support for this community will include campus resources, networking and academic and articulation review.

WELCOME HOME

Specifically designed for freshman students who live more than 100 miles away from the University.

SPORTS AND FITNESS

Designed for freshman and upperclass students who enjoy recreational sports and fitness as a part of everyday life. Floor events will be themed around attending athletic events, participating in intramural sports, friendly competitive games and group workouts!

MUSIC AND MEDIA

Meant for freshman and upperclass students who enjoy listening to music, exploring different musical genres and embracing today's pop culture and media. Floor events will be themed around music, concerts, movies, etc.

GENERAL UPPERCLASS LIVING

A community for upperclass students who opt not to join one of the other themed or membership communities.
