

Federal Tax Benefits at a Glance

A GUIDE FOR STUDENTS AND PARENTS

You may be able to take advantage of a number of federal tax benefits, including credits, deductions and savings incentives, to offset your costs for college or career training. You will find details on all the tax benefits at the Internal Revenue Service Web sites listed at right. You can also check out EdFUND's Guide to Federal Tax Benefits at www.edfund.org. In any case, we highly recommend you consult a professional tax advisor or attorney.

	HOPE TAX CREDIT	LIFETIME LEARNING TAX CREDIT	STUDENT LOAN INTEREST DEDUCTION	TUITION AND FEE DEDUCTION	COVERDELL EDUCATION SAVINGS ACCOUNT	529 COLLEGE SAVINGS PLANS (QUALIFIED TUITION PLANS)
WHAT IS IT?	A tax credit for the first two years of postsecondary education. You can subtract up to $1,650 a year in tuition and qualified college costs from the taxes you owe when you file your federal tax return.	A tax credit for tuition and qualified expenses for higher education or career training. You can subtract up to $2,000 a year in tuition and qualified college costs from the taxes you owe when you file your federal tax return.	A tax deduction of up to $2,500 of the interest you pay on your student loan each year, or the interest you pay on loans you received for your spouse's or child's education. The deduction will reduce the amount of your income that may be taxed by up to $2,500. You can claim this deduction even if you do not itemize deductions on your federal tax return.	A tax deduction of up to $4,000 for 2007 for tuition and fees from your taxable income if you are not eligible for the Hope or Lifetime Learning tax credits. You do not have to itemize to take advantage of this tax benefit but you must file Form 1040 or 1040A.	A savings account that is set up to pay qualified education expenses for a designated beneficiary. The beneficiary must be under the age of 18 or a special needs beneficiary.	An account that is set up to let you save for or prepay your or another beneficiary's college costs. Contributions grow tax-free and you pay no federal taxes on the money you withdraw for qualified education expenses. Each plan has its own annual and total contribution limits
