

2022 FIELD EDUCATOR AWARDS

*All of our Field Educators are wonderful!
Here are some very special recognitions...*

2022 SOCIAL WORK ICON

The profession of social work is complex, multifaceted and demanding. Having a social worker mentor who can truly walk with you as an intern in balancing the complexity of the profession is really wonderful. Some social workers truly embody the values and ethics of the profession in EVERY aspect. From how they engage with clients, to the compassion and support they offer to their work team, to how they teach and support developing social workers.

2022 ROCK-STAR ROOKIE

It takes courage and commitment to say 'yes' to supporting a MSW Intern. It is often quite anxiety producing for those who take on field education for the first time, not to mention, committing to this right in the middle of a pandemic! This 'newbie' Field Educator rocked it this year.

2022 RUNNING THE MARATHON

Supporting MSW Interns is a tall task. From planning meaningful ways to introduce interns to the agency, providing adequate learning experiences, supporting weekly supervision, and the ongoing motivation to encourage students during the difficult moments (both academic and personal), the task is daunting! The willingness to do this year after year is quite unique. This is an amazing longstanding Field Educator.

2022 WELLNESS WARRIOR

Social Workers have faced enormous challenges during these past few years, highlighting the need for professional and personal self-care to be effective in the field. Self-care is so important that the NASW Code of Ethics was amended to include new self-care language in the purpose and ethical principles. This Field Educator has modeled and encouraged the importance of professional and personal wellness and self-care.

2022 INNOVATIVE ADVOCATE

To be an effective Social Worker, it often takes creativity and innovation. Social Workers continuously facilitate creative solutions to very difficult problems! This Field Educator has demonstrated the value of creativity, innovation, or imagination in their practice and Field Education.
