Introductory English: •grammar or language structure •advanced composition •literature •speech •drama or theatre

- An individual with a major in drama, speech, or literature will not be issued a subject matter authorization in Introductory English based solely on the degree.
- Basic English courses required for a bachelor's degree, often numbered 1A and 1B, will not clear the grammar area. Course descriptions are usually needed to verify that a course covers grammar or language structure unless it is clearly mentioned in the course title. Key words or concepts for language structure are sentence structure and functions of the English verb system.
- One advanced composition and either a creative writing or applied composition course may also be used to meet the grammar or language structure and composition areas.
- Course work in foreign language literature is acceptable.
- Speech courses may be found in the English or Communications departments.
- All aspects of drama or theatre are acceptable including courses in costume design, lighting, sound, props, and makeup. Courses may be offered (or found) in the Drama or Theatre Departments.
