

Dr. Mzyece is currently an Assistant Professor of Agricultural Economics at California State University, Stanislaus. Her teaching portfolio includes Agricultural Statistics, Microeconomics, Agricultural Finance and Agricultural Marketing. Her current research focuses on Agricultural Risk Management, Land Use, Agricultural Marketing and Farm Profitability. Before joining California State University Stanislaus, Dr. Mzyece worked as an Assistant Professor of Economics and Agribusiness at Iowa Wesleyan University, where she was helping with the launch of a new Agribusiness program while teaching Business and Economics courses. Dr. Mzyece obtained her Ph.D. and Master's Degree in Agricultural Economics from Kansas State University in 2020 and 2016, respectively. She was born and raised in Zambia, got her Bachelor's Degree in Agricultural Sciences from the University of Zambia and also worked in research in the Non-Profit sector in Zambia, before going to Kansas State University for her graduate training as a Fulbright Scholar.

