Introduction

The Turlock Community Collaborative (TCC) is a group of local nonprofit organizations, government agencies, businesses, and citizens who have joined together to share resources and discover solutions to the issues that impact our community.

Since it was founded in 2002, the Collaborative has found ways to help the Turlock community and provide information and support to the wonderful non-profit agencies that are included in this directory. We thank the civic minded individuals who had the vision to begin the Collaborative, and we work to continue their dedication to making our community the best it can be. Since its inception, the TCC has broadened its scope to focus on the following issues: health and safety, economic development, education, and families, youth, and seniors. Within these three main foci, the TCC has tackled issues which have a significant impact on the community and have completed amazing projects that help some of Turlock's most vulnerable residents. The Collaborative has been the starting point of many amazing initiatives. TCC has been a part of the creation of a homeless shelter, the creation of the Turlock Community Gardens, the development of the Turlock Family Resource Center and other projects. Since its start over 20 years ago, the Collaborative has become the information center for local non-profits, government agencies, and local citizens.

This directory is intended to catalog the member organizations that serve the Turlock community. Those needing references for our citizens in need can easily obtain accurate information. Those interested in volunteering or supporting local Turlock non-profits may also find this directory helpful. This is the second edition of this directory, and we hope that it grows and becomes a resource for the Turlock community.

The original directory was created by Dr. Nancy Hudspeth and her dedicated students at California State University, Stanislaus. The students who helped launch this initiative are as follows: Manuel Silva, Jeremiah Morales, Jamal Ferguson, Jacob Faulder, Jonathan Coelho, Megan Samples, Thomas Curry

The 2023 edition of the directory was written, compiled, and completed by the Office of Service Learning student assistants, Denise Garcia & Maya Gomez at California State University, Stanislaus.

Thank you to all Collaborative Members who contributed to this directory. Your commitment to the community inspires and makes a difference every day.
