There is currently a high demand in California for Special Education Teachers. This need is expected to grow even more over the next five years.

It takes a special breed of teacher to educate, motivate and advocate for students with unique and diverse learning needs.

The CSU Stanislaus Preliminary Education Specialist Credential Program prepares you to teach in K-14 special education settings.