Great Valley Writing Project at CSU Stanislaus presents a professional development opportunity for teachers:

Hands-On Technology Lab for Teachers
2010 Professional Mini-Course for Educators

Gain skill through hands-on practice and get personalized help with your most common computer problems.

Use your computer more effectively and enjoyably with personalized instruction...

In this 15-hour course, teachers will discover fast, easy ways to use computers for lesson planning, digital communication, classroom management, and multimedia-enriched instruction. Participants will identify personal needs, learn efficiency tips, and observe a few simple lessons. With one teacher per five participants, instruction will be individualized to help each teacher meet personal goals.

Registration fee: $50.00 (Free to GVWP teacher consultants!)

Use Windows PCs are provided: Mac users may bring laptops.
