The Great Valley Writing Project’s Digital Writers’ Workshop

This program offers a unique opportunity for students to develop their writing talents. Under the guidance of experienced Great Valley Writing Project Teacher Consultants, students have a chance to grow as writers. In an atmosphere that is optimal for young writers, students become better writers. Students share writings with fellow students, conference with teachers, and experiment with a variety of genre and creative techniques.

The Great Valley Writing Project is funded through the California Writing Project, an entity of the California Subject Matter Projects, and the National Writing Project. Our focus is that of improving the teaching of writing through a teachers teaching teachers model. The GVWP offers Invitational Institutes, Open Programs, Professional Development for schools and districts, Inquiry Groups, Guest Author Series, and Young Writers’ Programs. The GVWP serves Calaveras, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, and Tuolumne counties.

Digital Writers’ Workshop // CSUS

Type: Camp - Writing Workshop
Start Time: Monday, June 14, 2010 at 9:00 a.m.
End Time: Friday, June 18, 2010 at 1:00 p.m.
Location: CSU Stanislaus

Description

This workshop is designed to teach writing modes that high school students will need to be successful in high school and college English classes: exposition, description, narration, and argument/persuasion. The workshop will focus on developing arguments within each rhetorical mode of writing and will use technology as a motivator to produce good writing. In the process of the course, students will create a radio program, write “television” commercials, write daily blogs, and use wikis to collaborate on projects.

Who should attend Digital Writers’ Workshop?

Students who:
• enjoy writing
• want to improve their writing skills and develop their own style
• want to explore a variety of writing experiences combined with creative strategies
