The General Education Program at CSU Stanislaus is comprised of the traditional General Education Program, the First-Year Experience Program and the Summit Program. The traditional program has been offered in its current overall design since the early 1970’s, although the number of units and specific courses has changed over the decades. Currently, the General Education Program requires students to complete 51 semester units—including nine upper division units—of selected courses within seven broad disciplinary categories. The Summit Program was approved in May 2004, after three years of pilot. The Summit Program provides an alternative upper division general education built around a cluster model.

Organizational Structure for General Education

The organizational structure described here supports the General Education Program at CSU Stanislaus.
