April 7, 2014

To: The Campus Community

I write to encourage you to attend a very important discussion on campus next week. As part of its ongoing initiative to partner with the community in ways that advance the region, California State University, Stanislaus has teamed with the Turlock Chamber of Commerce to host a public forum on arguably the most significant contemporary challenge to our region:

“Our Groundwater Challenges: What Do They Mean for the Turlock Area?”
Tuesday, April 15
6 PM to 8 PM
MSR 130

Presenters will include:
• Horacio Ferriz, CSU Stanislaus Professor of Geology
• Michael Cooke, City of Turlock Municipal Services Director
• Michael Frantz, Turlock Irrigation District Director
• Wayne Zipser, Chair of the Stanislaus County Water Advisory Committee
• Dorene D’Adamo, State Water Resources Control Board member

Few issues affect our region's present and future as do water-related matters. The University is pleased to offer attendees of the forum the opportunity to learn how water supply presents special challenges to the Turlock area.

Sincerely,

Joseph F. Sheley, President