Affordable Housing/Community Development Intern

Are you community minded or a social entrepreneur? Passionate about making a positive impact in peoples’ lives? Would you like to learn about the work of nonprofit organizations building and providing affordable housing in under-served communities? If so, this opportunity may be the right fit for you.

The California Coalition for Rural Housing is proud to announce its 20th Annual Rural West Internship Program for Diversity in Nonprofit Housing and Community Development. Selected Interns will learn and gain experience in affordable housing and real estate development: learn hands-on what it takes to create affordable healthy living communities, and specifically learn the intricacies of developing single family homes or multifamily housing complexes from concept inception to construction completion for low-income and ethnically diverse communities following a real estate development process.

In addition, interns have the opportunity to be exposed to different leadership styles via CEO and Executive Director shadowing experiences; and are able to further develop their leadership skills through the program’s supplemental activities described below.
