

Faculty Employment Opportunity

- POSITION: LECTURER IN POLITICAL SCIENCE (part time). The Department of Political Science and Public Administration has an immediate opening for a part-time lecturer to teach Modern Political Thought (PSCI 3011) and a large, possibly online, section of American Government (PSCI 1201) in Spring 2017. More generally, the department anticipates an on-going need for part-time instructors to teach varied courses in Political Science. These are likely to include lower division courses--Introduction to American Government (PSCI 1201), Introduction to Political Science (PSCI 2000), and Global Politics (PSCI 2030)--and upper division courses in the field of political theory. Applicants interested in being considered for one or more of these course assignments should address their qualifications in the application letter.
- MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS: MA in Political Science, or Master of Public Administration with a BA in Political Science
- PREFERRED QUALIFICATIONS: ABD or PhD in Political Science with the appropriate specialization in American politics and/or political theory depending on the specific course to be taught. Successful and effective college-level teaching experience. Strong academic accomplishment in a Political Science or Public Administration graduate program.
- HOW TO APPLY & DEADLINE: A complete application is required and must include the following: cover letter specifically addressing your qualifications for the position; unofficial copies of graduate transcripts; a professional CV, including contact information for three references; and teaching evaluations or documentation of teaching effectiveness in a college or university setting. Official transcripts will be required at the time of hire. Screening of application files will commence immediately. Applications will be accepted until all available courses have been assigned. Send applications (electronic submissions preferred) and all correspondence concerning this position to:

CRIMINAL BACKGROUND CLEARANCE NOTICE

The university requires a criminal and/or child abuse background check to be completed for many of its new employees, current employees seeking promotional or transfer opportunities, and current employees assigned new duties. Satisfactory completion of a background check (including a criminal records check) is required for employment. CSU will make a conditional offer of employment, which may be rescinded if the background check reveals disqualifying information, and/or it is discovered that the candidate knowingly withheld or falsified information. Failure to satisfactorily complete the background check may affect the continued employment of a current CSU employee who was conditionally offered the position. Failure to consent to any background check will disqualify an applicant from further consideration. Additionally, an applicant who fails to provide the necessary information or who provides false or misleading information may also be disqualified from further consideration. Later discovery of false or misleading information related to the background check may result in the offer of employment being withdrawn or subject the employee to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.
