Q3 - What did you like about using Canvas?

What did you like about using Canvas?

What I liked about using Canvas was how a lot of the assignments would be open until 1 am because I would have a lot of time to finish my assignments for my English 2000-004: Critical Inquiry online class, and also I would have enough time to finish my assignments for my English 2000-004: Critical Inquiry online class.

- notifications to the email - group discussions - simple interface and easy to collaborate with teachers and within groups - Grades breakdown

Ease of finding content posted by professor.

It was easy to access my teachers notes on my assignments and to see the grades and the possibilities a score could have on your final grade.

Canvas was nice to access but blackboard was just as easy.

Its easy and simple to use, you can see your grades and view your assignments.

Not much, honestly.

Ease of use and attractive UI

The ease in maneuvering around the platform and access to assignments.

I liked that it was fairly easy to navigate and grades were posted right away for online quizzes

It was easier to do my assignments, as well know my grade throughout the semester

It was easy to use. The assignments were easy to find and there was a separate page for your grades making it better to see where you made positive and negative changes to your grade. I am also comfortable with the canvas because I have used it before at MJC which I am also enrolled in. I have been happy with it every time I have needed to use it because it isn't complicated or difficult to use.

What I liked about Canvas was that there show different classes in different colors. Also, there is a calendar which is really helpful and the notifications.

I could easily check my grades.

The app is better than blackboard, it's easier to use. It is also a lot simpler than blackboard.

Nothing much really. It was nice to access the materials, but it did the same amount as Blackboard.

The looks and style of it, and it was simple to use.

It was simplified and straightforward.

I do not like it.

It was a great deal more visually appealing than Blackboard

What did you like about using Canvas?

You can plug in potential grades.

I can calculate my grade with hypothetical scores. Helped a lot !

The menu is easy to navigate

It was not complicated to use.

Canvas is way better than blackboard and it's user friendly with due dates that tells when an assignment is due. I like the models where it shows the assignment and readings we had to do for the week. And the grades tab is also very nice it shows what our grade would be if we didn't do an assignment.

It's really organized

The notifications and easy accessibility.

I liked being able to work on my own time and pace. I enjoyed the organization including the modules, assignments, and discussions.

The quizzes were easy to do because of how Canvas is.

the user interface on desktop

Easy to navigate and understand where assignments or grades were posted.

The files portion

Nothing really, I'm am more acquainted with blackboard.

Easy to use

It was very organized

It was easy to find everything

I liked the "To Do" and "Recent Feedback" aspects of Canvas because the assignments that were most relevant to me were readily accessible from the Home page. The "To Do" list served as a reminder for me for the due dates of upcoming assignments.

More detailed and easy to use than blackboard.

I like that I was able to understand how to use it fast. I like how I got to see my score on assignments as my professor graded them.

Easy to work with. Very simple and extremely organized.

So easy to use, clean formatting, and you can "test" different grades for future assignments

The communication back and forth with teacher and other classmates was very easy. Uploading and turning assignments in was also a breeze as it had multiples was of being able to upload documents. I also really like the grading assignments part of Canvas because it lets you calculated your potential grade in the course depending on the score you get, that was a really cool feature. I also loved using the Canvas app on iOS it was very user friendly and having notifications enabled ensured me I was always up do date with any new announcements.

What did you like about using Canvas?

It was okay. Only thing was I never was notified when professor updated items in class. All my notifications were set to on, but never was notified. That part made class difficult.

Keep updates on grades

It's a very easy to use. Every tab corresponds to what you're searching through, and you can actually upload the assignment more than once.

it is a lot easier than blackboard I liked it a lot better

It was wasy

Canvas is way faster than blackboard, easier to take quizzes and test no technical issues, canvas is very organized

Very easy to yse

It was easy to use

Grading tab system

I loved how organized my professor was using it. It was very user friendly, especially because of the way that she presented the course info. I knew exactly where to find information and it was clear and simple.

Nothing

Nothing. It was hard to use and no notifications.

Everything!

The layout was nice

It seemed to run a lot smoother than blackboard.

I like that I can input a possible grade to see how it can effect the overall grade. Canvas uses standardized tabs so it makes it more uniform when searching through classes.

Easy to navigate

It was easy to use and the back and forth between my phone and my laptop was very simple.

Nothing, this such a horrible system to use, it is so complicated to navigate, nothing would load. A piece of crap

Easy to navigate and it looked nice.

The format was easy to use.

Easy. Direct Consistent

It seems more manageable however it would be nice if it was organized when professors put in files for us. Unless that is controlled by the professor and nothing can be done by the university then I liked it. It's a simple page nothing fancy and easier to find things unlike blackboard.

What did you like about using Canvas?

Everything! Super easy to find assignments.

It had a cleaner ui

The layout and how organized it was.

So much better than black board. It shows us our grades in such organization and let's you add it your grades to see what you need to get on future assignments to pass the class i thought it was pretty user friendly

It was really easy to navigate.

Ability to see my grades as well as do what-if reports

The simplicity of it

I liked logging in and all the tabs that I needed were right there on the side bar. I liked that I didn't have to do a lot of clicking around.

You can find things better. Calculating grades is easier. Changing settings on how and what to get notifications on is efficient.

Showed the grades of every assignment and had the overall grade. I knew what grade I had for the class.

It was organised

Easy to use. I really liked the setup for the class and ease of accessing all the areas. I used Blackboard, Moodle and Canvas this semester and Canvas was my favorite. Not sure how it works accessing multiple classes since I only had the one.

Better than Blackboard

I liked that you can sign up to receive reminder of assignment that are about to be due soon. Also being able to see our overall grade .

I can calculate my grade by using the what if scenario

The easy access to notifications from professor

Canvas appears easier to see tabs and more organized.

It was much easier to use than Blackboard and I got notifications the minute an assignment was graded.

Nothing special about it good

I did not like using Canvas. If canvas was the sole application being used, it would have been okay. I did not having to use Canvas for only one class. It meant I needed to have a separate application on my tablet device and a separate login and such.

The calendar

I liked how it was kinda easier to know your grade

What did you like about using Canvas?

I absolutely loved the app. It is so easy to use and understand. We have access to just about anything we need without having to hunt like on blackboard. Blackboard is just very outdated and canvas fits in with the way social media apps are today.

Everything it's simple to use compared to blackboard

Easy to move around and use

About the same in navigation terms when compared to blackboard. Sometimes easier to find certain things. Assignment calendar more prominent.

It has an app on smart phones which makes it easier for students to access their courses

Easy interface. Less cluttered than BB.

That the grades were uploaded quickly

It was very easy to understand when using

It was much easier to use than blackboard. I feel like it is more organized and easier to access the material that is posted.

That if I mess up on a post I can always go back and edit my post.

Nothing in particular, I felt that it was similar to black board but black board was easier to use.

I prefer the layout of blackboard better

It was fast to update/inform you on syllabus change. assignment submission was easy and if you made a mistake you had the power to resubmit assignments. Canvas was extremely organized and not confusing. Only had the classes you were enrolled in .

Everything

It was very organized

Q4 - What did you not like about using Canvas?

What did you not like about using Canvas?

What I did not like about using Canvas was how the voice threads would not be submitted at all when I would turn it in because it would mean that I did not turn in the different voice threads for my English 2000-004: Critical Inquiry online class, and it would also mean that I did not do the different voice threads for my English 2000-004: Critical Inquiry online class.

You had to login through blackboard in order to login into canvas

Having to access it through Blackboard

It takes a while to get used to.

Easy access.

I had trouble accessing the website on my laptop because the website was wrong.

Interface is needlessly cluttered and doesn't make sense at times. I often found myself going through pages just trying to find what I was looking for. Organization was a serious downgrade from Blackboard. Collapsible menus are a fad that I'd like to see disappear. Baroque and needless features.

grade glitches that occurred sporadically.

Nothing

It was my only class on canvas so it was annoying to not be able to see any info from that class on blackboard. Also half the time the images wouldn't load on quizzes. And it was a little difficult to figure out because I had never used it

There was nothing wrong. Everything wa good

There was nothing wrong with Canvas in my opinion. I really liked it because it is not hard to find whatever you need or to find out what your current grade is.

There was nothing I didn't like.

Logging in on my computer wouldn't work, I had to open the webpage through an email notification link.

I loved it.

Nothing

Having to look up the address each time; wasn't intuitive like blackboard.csustan.edu is

I was not able to directly log into Canvas. I would have to log into multiple links, and I would never have a successful logout.

I didn't have an actual page to login through it was just through the email I received from the professor

I would like to see the score averages in the app

What did you not like about using Canvas?

N/A

I think one semester is too short a time for me to know for sure what I don't like about Canvas.

It was great

n/a

There wasn't anything that I did not like about the canvas course.

user interface on mobile

Never came across something I didn't like.

The side bar. It is very confusing and difficult to use.

I did not like that the uploaded files were not separated or organized by content. I did not like that there was one canvas for two sections of the same course and assignments and due dates were consistently mixed up. I did not like when the professor sent out emails/notifications for one section, it would go to both sections and confuse and stress out both sections enrolled in the course.

There was nothing I didn't like

I didn't like having to use slack, canvas and blackboard at the same time.

It didn't show my grade somewhere I can see it quickly so I had to look for it

I was unable to open up the assignments from viewing it on the calendar.

At times it has a lot of categories to select from that can be confusing.

Maybe have a video to explain how to use it and how to post assignments.

nothing, I loved it.

It is the best platform hands down

Everything about using Canvas was great. The only thing I didn't like was that all my other course were using blackboard so I had to remember I had to login separately onto canvas to access the course for canvas.

At first it was confusing but now it's easy so there's nothing wrong

Honestly, I like it better than blackboard!

nothing, everything was good

Nothing

I didn't dislike anything.

What did you not like about using Canvas?

N/A

No issues

It's a little confusing looking for docs

The only thing I didn't like is that it was separate from all of my other courses.

First, it was confusing to use. Second, I prefer blackboard because I am already familiarize with it. Third, it was such a hassle having only one class on canvas while all my other classes were in blackboard. Lastly, sometimes I would forget I had a class on canvas and not complete the assignment.

No notifications, harder to use, disorganized

Is was hard to navigate and learn where certain things were

Nothing I did not like about it.

The canvas app is not as user friendly when submitting assignments as the blackboard app is. I had to submit via the internet access in order to submit the appropriate file.

Sometimes on the phone's app you have to click "see all courses" instead of the courses being on the home screen

I have no complaints about using Canvas.

Every single thing

I only had one class that used Canvas, so it was semi-irritating to have to go to a seperate site to view one class.

I feel like the instructor was not able to figure it out

I didn't like that the material professors put in were disorganized.

Nothing.

I couldnt find out where to access the website

It was the same as Blackboard and I do not understand why we have two programs that do the exact same functions. I do not like having to monitor two separate programs for classes. Pick one as a university and use it universally for the university.

Uploading files and pictures was the most frustrating thing. I never figured out god to upload anything but emails and comments

i think that there are so many different tabs to navigate to that they need to maybe be condensed - also i didnt like having to go through blackboard to access it

When there was an assignment graded or due, the notifications were sent kind of late.

Nothing

Nothing

What did you not like about using Canvas?

I liked everything.

Canvas overall was great, just that I had to login through blackboard to get to Canvas.

Difficult to login, had to use email link constantly

Nothing bothered me, but as stated previously I was only using it to access 1 class, so not sure how it would be using for multiple courses.

Can't think of a reason

N/A

I had a hard time looking for my assignments, and locating certain files. It had an awkward structure

I couldn't log into it through the original website and had to bookmark it from an email in order get to the right site where my login would go through. This also always landed me in the discussion tab since I couldn't log into the original website which I understand it is because the course is an experiment on canvas.

Hard to access on mobile

Having to have a separate application on my tablet device, and having to log into that app separately from the other programs already in use.

The layout and organization of it . I don't like the tabs, or the way that modules are layed out

How only one teacher would use canvas while the rest used blackboard

I only had 1 class on it since everything else is on blackboard

When typing during discussion questions there was not an undo button

Sometimes more difficult to navigate depending on the instructors setup.

Logging in is difficult. May have nothing to do with Canvas. When I type in BB into my laptop I'm automatically taken to a lot in page. I have to go to my student email to access Canvas.

That it was separate from blackboard

I was unable to go onto canvas by myself I had to login on by going through emails I received from the site or leaving a tab open from the site

Everything was great.

Nothing really, the only issue i had was my teachers power points were out of order making studying a nuisance. Also had no idea where she put her voice threads or how to access them when i did find it.

I preferred the layout of blackboard better

Nothing. I loved everything about canvas and I hope we switch over to canvas.

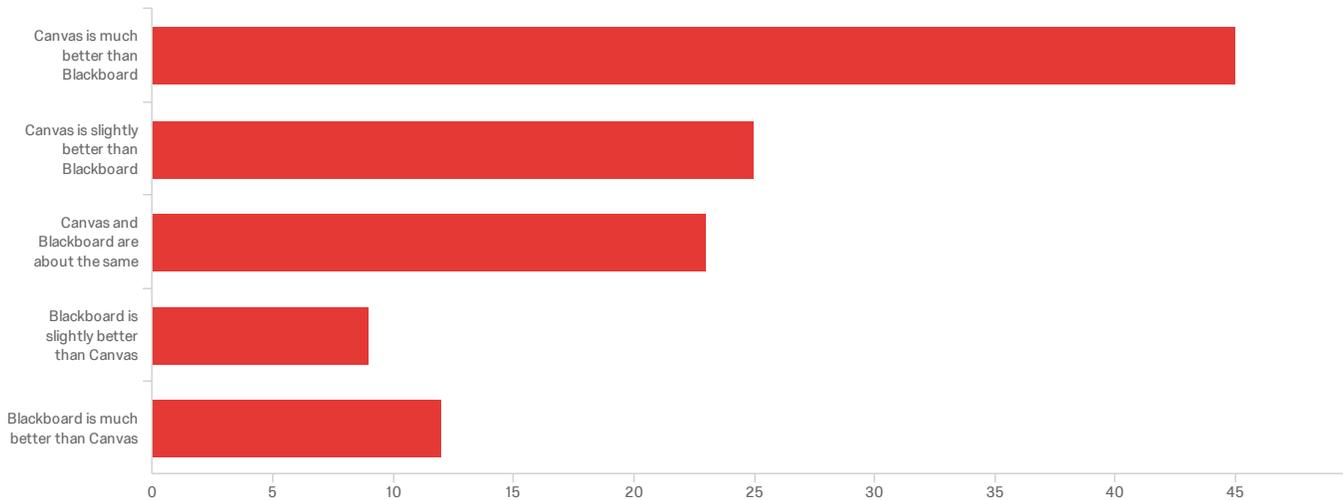

Nothing

What did you not like about using Canvas?

Hard making sure where everything was located

Q9 - Thinking about your classes at Stan State, how would you compare your overall learning experience using Canvas to your overall learning experience using Blackboard?

Q10 - Feel free to elaborate on your answer to the previous question.

Feel free to elaborate on your answer to the previous question.

The reason why Canvas and Blackboard are about the same is because they both say when you turn in something late, and they both say when you can't turn in the assignment anymore since the file is no longer open anymore.

Blackboard is easier to look at grades

It is easier to maneuver around.

Blackboard is a staple to my college experience. Even when using it for the first time, it felt familiar. Throughout the whole semester, I found myself misclicking through directories and lost on Canvas. As someone going for a bachelor's in computer science, using the computer comes easy to me, but even I struggled to understand and navigate Canvas.

Both Canvas and Blackboard are accessible and easy to move around for students. Canvas did appear a little cleaner than Blackboard.

Blackboard can sometimes be confusing while Canvas is straight-forward.

Canvas and blackboard seem to be the same. Canvas was only beneficial because my professor consistently input grades, meanwhile other professors using blackboard wait until the end of the semester. That is if they're input at all.

I used canvas more, every time I used blackboard I found it more difficult and confusing turning in the assignments. While Canvas it was easier to turn in the assignments

The menu is easier to use and the files and links are faster and easier to use and download

I can find the tab for assignments with due dates easier and faster than on blackboard.

I enjoy the organization better on canvas than on blackboard.

Grades are posted faster on blackboard. More professors understand blackboard more.

The face of having a calendar for dates to keep in mind and the approaching deadlines was pretty neat, especially if there was any changes it was addressed prior to class through canvas.

Because I only had one course under Canvas, I did not become as familiar with all of Canvas' features as I did with Blackboard's. However, taking a second look at Canvas now I see that there are a little bit more functions-- such as the What-If scores--than Blackboard, so I think that Canvas would be more useful.

blackboards seems more old and less modern but I have been using blackboard for a long time so it seems like it is more simple and straightforward in how to use it compared to canvas

Canvas seems to be very user friendly and easy to navigate.

Blackboard can be complicated.

In the sense that in blackboard discussions won't let you see your classmates discussions and canvas will

Feel free to elaborate on your answer to the previous question.

Blackboard seems to have errors more often and the organization is more complex and confusing. Canvas makes it more simple and I like the layout much more.

Blackboard is easier to use and it is more convenient.

It just ran a lot smoother and was more pleasing on the eye.

I feel that canvas is more user friendly in its navigation, but blackboard is more user friendly when submitting assignments via the app.

N/a

I have only a student for a short time here at CSU, Stanislaus. If it's easier to navigate the Canvas system I would say to change it.

The format is easier to use and I personally believe it is more organized.

The classes that are on blackboard are fine except for the instructors are not consistent from one class to another.

It's better in the sense that it isn't boring looking and it's simple to use.

They do the same functions. Just pick one as a school and make all classes utilize that one program. It is impractical to have two separate programs.

Blackboard is complicated and when I first used it, I had an extremely hard time.

I just liked the setup better. It seemed easier, but I did not use Canvas for discussion boards, etc. So I cannot speak to that aspect.

Its is easier to use. More organize

I really enjoyed the website for canvas. Blackboard is more confusing.

The homepage on blackboard is easier to navigate since all courses are listed for you whereas in canvas, they seem to be in a box-like format. However, I dislike that the tab in blackboard that hides after clicking the course. I feel that both are organized and can be adapted to.

I am new to both Blackboard and Canvas. I did not see one being a clear winner over the other. They both have pros and cons and were interchangeable to me.

You get to see the same things on both but the way you see your grades is different

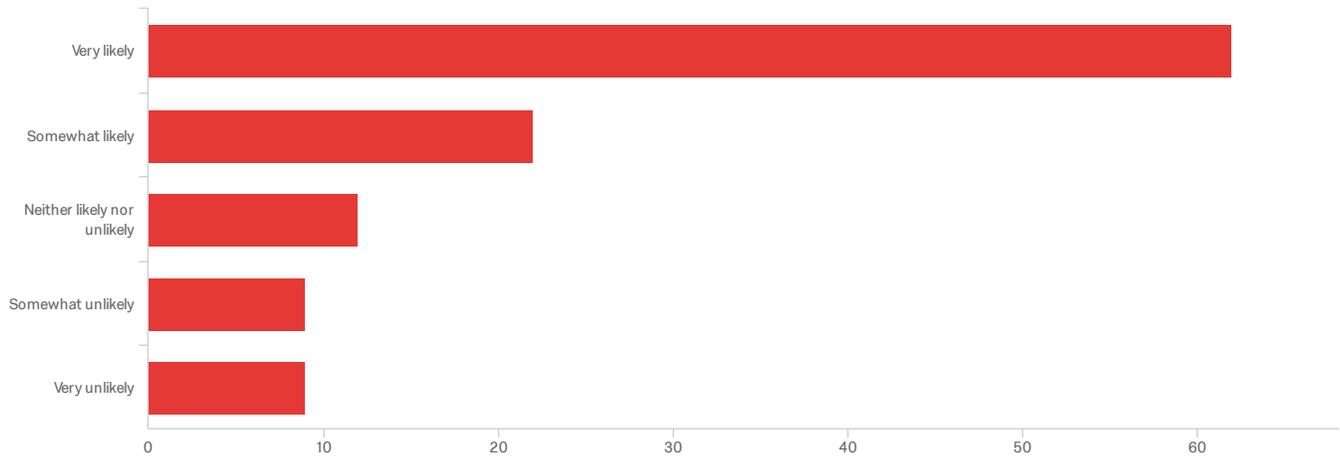

Canvas is simple it has great reminders on it it's just overall better that's why mjc dropped blackboard years ago and took on canvas

Most students and instructors are used to blackboard so overall the experience is smoother though they are roughly the same in terms of what is offered

They give a percentage grade rather than a color

Just easier to navigate and more organized in my opinion

Q5 - If given a choice to use Canvas again as a student, how likely would you be to choose it?

Q6 - What concerns, if any, do you have about the idea of Stan State switching its primary Learning Management System to Canvas?

What concerns, if any, do you have about the idea of Stan State switching i...

The concerns, if any, that I have about the idea of Stan State switching its primary Learning Management System to Canvas are that they should keep Canvas and Blackboard because the teachers can decide which system they should use for their different classes that they are teaching on the campus, and the teachers can choose which system is best for their different classes that they are teaching on the campus.

It would take some adjusting to, but overall I would be fine

Most teachers use blackboard.

None

I love it I think others will to.

People will use Canvas less to keep up with their classes because they don't understand how it works.

none

Not at this time

I don't have concerns. When my class required us to use Canvas I was concerned that we may have to change our email address but we didn't have to. We signed in with our same information making it very easy.

No concerns at all.

No concerns for me.

I don't have any concerns switch to canvas please.

People who got used to blackboard might not like the change since they are used to it.

Great

My main concern is how well the professors will adjust to changing from blackboard to canvas. And if the professors know how to input grades and assignments on Canvas.

None. I came from MJC, and I was a student during their transition. Either one is fine, but if I could choose, I would choose Canvas.

The turn around time to have everybody in it would be interesting as when anything becomes the new tool there will be hiccups just how fast can they be corrected or addressed. If that makes sense.

None.

I think it is a horrible idea!

What concerns, if any, do you have about the idea of Stan State switching i...

Professors do not know how to use it and are unwilling to learn how to use it properly.

I have no concerns

None as long as we stick to one

I think that the switch from Blackboard to Canvas will not be difficult at all for students. However, we should have access to Canvas accounts before the semester of the switch begins in order to become familiar with its functions.

I am concerned that my professors might now know how to use it properly and can mess up on grading. I am also worried that it might not be as simple as blackboard. Maybe make a tutorial video on how to use canvas.

None. I would prefer them too.

Teachers may have a hard time switching

Blackboard is old fashion. Campus really needs to get with the times.

I feel like it the same as blackboard so either way would be fine

I don't think it'd make a big difference. The blackboard and Canvas are about the same, and blackboard just seems to be confusing at times.

I do not have concerns

No concerns, I like the idea to switching to canvas.

I would say no.

None

It would just take a good while for students and teachers to understand how to manage it at first

I think this is a great move to make and have no major concerns.

I will not be able to navigate the Canvas system the same way I am able to navigate the blackboard system. I am scared that I will also not be able to complete my assignments on time due to not knowing how to use canvas.

if would be hard to adjust

Everyone would have to learn how to navigate a new system

None

Submitting assignments in the app is my only concern when switching to canvas. I am very good at finding a way to make it work, but others have difficulty with technology, so it could pose a problem.

None

I don't have any. I know that it won't be easy to change it, but once it's integrated with everything else it'll be easier to deal with!!

What concerns, if any, do you have about the idea of Stan State switching i...

I would be against CSU Stan switching to Canvas, Blackboard is so much cleaner and easier to navigate and use than Canvas.

Canvas is great! I really cannot think of issues with it

It would be about time the school change blackboard was always so boring and old school looking.

Not many concerns

Is there something wrong with Blackboard? I don't see the need to change to Canvas.

I think is a great idea. Because MJC being a stepping stone to transferring has everything so organized with canvas that it just makes everything so much easier in the overall processes of finding your grades and little details about them

What concerns me is how long it would take for the system to get use to Canvas and how will we be able to login daily.

None

It would just take a lot of getting use to since we're all very familiar with Blackboard.

None. Canvas is much simple and easier than blackboard. Turning in assignments through canvas is faster.

None really since I am already having to use multiple platforms; however, I would like to see how it works for multiple courses and using other features like discussions, etc.

None

None

They should stick to one. Not alot of us are used to or have time to adjust to a new system

None whatever is fine but consistency is the key. Having only some classes in it became confusing

None.

We have been using Blackboard for this entire time and it gets confusing when we have to use Blackboard and canvas and other learning systems

The Stan page doesn't direct you to canvas. You directly have to type in canvas.csustan.edu They should make it more easier and accessible

No concerns I think canvas is great

The difficulty that students and instructors will have with the switch. Having prior experience with canvas I had minimal problems but other students reported issues if there would be a link on university website to sign in to canvas.

Is there an app? It would be beneficial to students and staff if canvas would provide walkthrough links to videos etc... Once people become familiar with Canvas it should be an overall better experience.

Are you going to teach us how to use it

What concerns, if any, do you have about the idea of Stan State switching i...

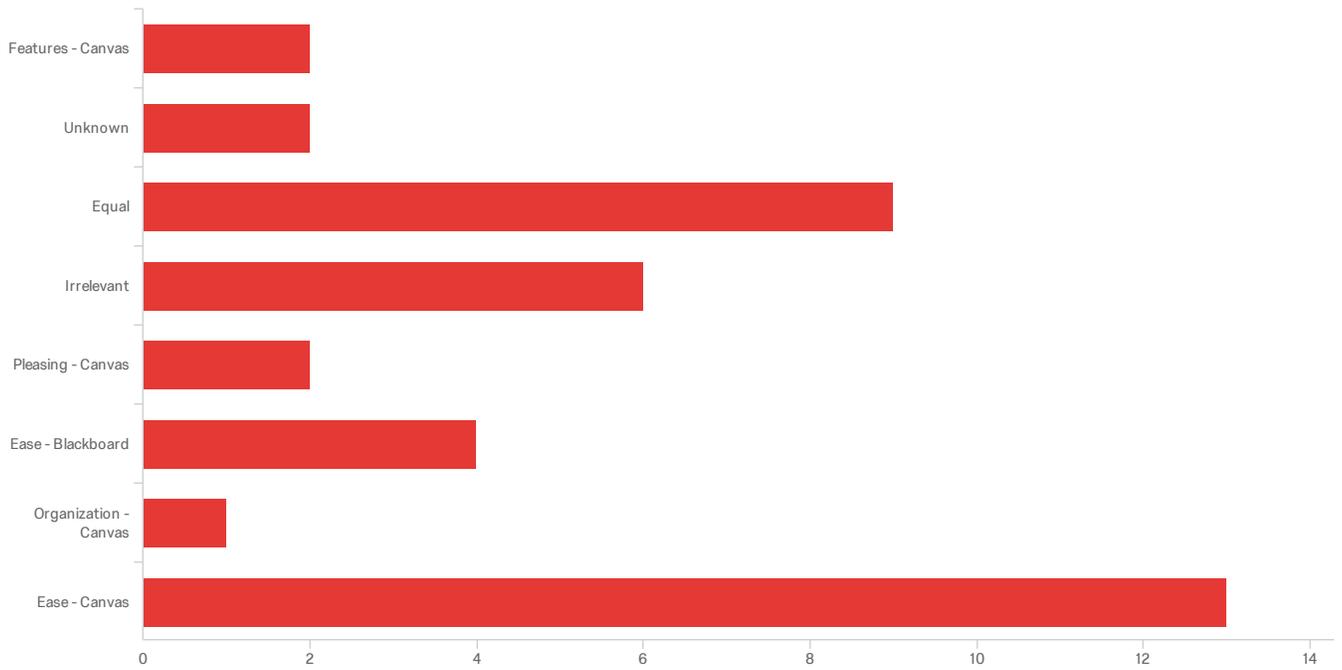

Just login that I will be able to log in when I want

I prefer Canvas.

I'll just have to get used to it I guess

I think it should be optional to take a course on canvas or blackboard not have to be campus in order to do an online class
