

With the pandemic affecting everyone around the world, everyone was forced to adapt to the new conditions of staying indoor and no longer being able to work or learn within a classroom or building. Moving from a traditional classroom to online learning for some people has not been a significant change but for others. With the new learning online environment, it has provided some benefits to learning such as a more flexible schedule and also new learning methods that could not be used in a traditional setting but with this new environment comes changes and even new consequences such as having lost physical connection to classmates and professors. Even though online learning may seem easier for most, there is still a group of those who may suffer from the change due to not having the necessary tools to handle this new learning experience or simply do not like the change.
