

PRESIDENT'S GOAL 2003-04

In 2003-04, the University will renew, strengthen and expand its commitment to the learning-centered strategic plan by developing and implementing a model of assessment that engages all units and programs on all operational levels. The campus community, informed by data, will collaboratively develop a plan that promotes:

- A systemic culture of self-reflection and evaluation based on continuous improvement;
- An environment where faculty, staff, students, administrators, the Foundation Board of Trustees, the University Advisory Board, and the Auxiliary Business Services Board actively engage in training sessions to maximize their common knowledge of and appreciation for assessment in a learning-centered university community;
- A campus community that actively pursues excellence and self-improvement through a culture of universitywide assessment; and
- A campus climate of inquiry that encourages engagement, dialogue, open debate, and reflection within our learning-centered environment at CSU Stanislaus.
